

From Words to War

Ukraine in the Russian Press, 2014-2022

ISBN 978-1-879944-26-8 (print) | 978-1-879944-27-5 (online) | 978-1-879944-28-2 (e-book, EPUB) | 2025 | 420 pages | in English

This book proceeds from a simple question – “What prompted the Russian-Ukrainian war?”

The answers are presented here in the words of primary sources: public statements and reporting from political actors, journalists and commentators addressed to Russian-speaking audiences. Much of this content is published in book form in English for the first time.

The picture that emerges is that the invasion of Ukraine on February 24, 2022 was preceded not just by preparatory actions of the Russian military – joint exercises in post-Soviet space and the buildup of troops at the Ukrainian border – but by years of propaganda and persuasion targeted at the Russian elite and ordinary citizens. These rhetorical efforts emerged particularly strongly with the outbreak of the “Revolution of Dignity” (2013-2014) and continue with increasing insistence to this day.

Our aim is not to espouse or glorify the narrative of the Putin regime. Instead, we present it for academic study, along with immediate reactions to it, both laudatory and critical.

Most of the articles, speeches, interviews and reports featured here originally appeared in East View’s English-language periodical The Current Digest of the Russian Press. Coverage starts during the 2014 Russian occupation of the Crimea and continues right up to the invasion.

We hope that this compendium of primary sources – many of them published in English for the first time – will offer scholars and other interested readers fresh insight into the power of words to move nations.

Available Formats and Pricing

Print: $74.95

Online: $295.00

e-book (EPUB): $39.95

Advance Praise for From Words to War

"The editors of this book should be commended for assembling the voices of hate and imperial domination, both from the state propagandists and genuine imperialists and war-mongers across the right- and far-right side of the Russian political spectrum. It is these voices that primed Russian people to fight and die in Putin's criminal war against Ukraine, provided cover for the atrocities committed by Russian occupation forces in Bucha and Irpen, and justified political repression, in the name of war support, inside the country. The collection provides ample research material for students of state propaganda and functioning of authoritarian regimes, as well as a source of documentary evidence for a new Nuremberg tribunal for Putin's propaganda workers."

– Konstantin Sonin, John Dewey Distinguished Service Professor,
Irving B. Harris Graduate School of Public Policy Studies, University of Chicago

---

"From Words to War: Ukraine in the Russian Press, 2014- 2022 may quickly establish itself as a veritable handbook helping experts and lay persons gain a better understanding of the causes, actual and perceived, that culminated in the Russian invasion of Ukraine in early 2022. It is a forceful reminder of the maxim that although occasions for wars may be trivial, causes never are. One of the virtues of this "anthology" of items from the Russian press and of official documents featured in the Appendix, is that it does not limit itself to military developments of the last three years. Instead, it masterfully recaptures causes with roots in the entire Putin reign, indeed the immediate post-Soviet era and the so-called "new world order." Added to the psychological embarrassment experienced by the world's largest country in the wake of the "geopolitical disaster" of the Soviet Union's dissolution were growing concerns over national security issues, raised largely by the decisions of Western policy makers during the Yeltsin years (1991-99); the Orange Revolution in Ukraine (2004), followed by complex political developments in that country; steady NATO expansion to Russia's borders; questions of historical and cultural identity; and of course, the Russian annexation of the Crimea in 2014. This is precisely the universe that the items marshalled in From Words to War reveal so brilliantly. For nothing reveals the mood of a people and its government, especially in an authoritarian regime, as its press. One could argue that, despite some protests, the Russian press became a school for the whole nation to inform itself about ugly realities, and even uglier perceptions, that drove Russia's compulsion to act in a grand manner in Ukraine. One could also argue that if Western analysts and designers of international policy were better versed in the emerging mood in Russia regarding Ukraine as revealed in the Russian press, Western policy might have been less provocative and more committed to a peaceful diplomacy. In the final analysis, the bankruptcy of diplomacy is more lamentable than the bankruptcy of war.

Thematically and conveniently arranged, the contents of From Words to War reveal a panoramic view of historical, political, cultural issues, and political actors not easily accessible in other comparable publications on the Russian invasion of Ukraine. It is a volume that deserves a place in every research library and on the desks of students seriously interested in a broader comprehension of one of the most complex political imbroglios of our already ravaged century. Finally, the volume could provide a refreshing dimension to the issues under consideration if used as supplementary reading for courses on Central and East European history and politics, foreign relations, communications, and, above all, the role of the press and social media in our fast growing digitized age."

– Theofanis G. Stavrou, Professor of History, University of Minnesota

Table of Contents

Publisher's Preface
Introduction

PART ONE — FROM MAIDAN TO NOVOROSSIA

Independence Square Protesters Pick Up Cobblestones
Antirevolutionary Peninsula: Crimea Holds Its Ground
Kiev Tries to Save Crimea
For the Ordinary Ukrainian
Arrogance and Paranoia
The Crimea a Trojan Horse for Ordinary Russians
Donetsk Basin Proclaims Itself a Republic
Why Is It Hard for Moscow to Compromise With Kiev?
Vladimir Putin: 'We Have Nothing to Fear'
Kiev Threatens Moscow With Countermeasures
Ukrainian
Ukraine: Difficult Present, Complicated Future
Strelkov Switches Focus to Internal Enemies
The Outcome of the Novorossia Elections
Kiev De Facto Recognizes Separation of Donetsk Basin
The Siemens Incident: How Russia Is Losing Its Sovereignty
Five Stars: How Crimea Marked Fifth Anniversary of Reunification With Russia
Sincere Recognition — Russian President Vladimir Putin Decides to Recognize the Lugansk and Donetsk People's Republics
Approving the Agreements

PART TWO — MILITARY PROVOCATIONS AND PREPARATIONS

Passenger Liner Shot Down Over Ukraine
Changes on the Western Front
Specter of the Russian Army Haunting Ukraine
Counterattack
The First Russian-Ukrainian War in Questions and Answers
Withdrawal Maneuver or Distraction Maneuver?
Peace Enforcement in Debaltsevo
War Remains Inevitable; There Is No Stopping the Tide
'Strange War' in Donetsk Basin
War Again: What Lies Behind the Escalation in the Donetsk Basin?
Who Benefits From Escalation of Conflict Between Moscow and Kiev?
The Black Sea: First Blood of a Possible Winter War
If War Comes Tomorrow: The Real Reason Why Merkel Sought Conversation With Putin
'We Know From Experience What Full Morgues Are Like'
'Kiev Needs a Valve to Let Off Steam'
'The Kremlin's Calculations Have Changed'
Threat to Russian Realpolitik
Russia Unlikely to Invade Ukraine Despite Ratcheting Tensions, Experts Believe Alarming Noise

PART THREE — SETTLEMENT TALKS: FROM MINSK TO NORMANDY

Kiev Sits Down at Negotiating Table, but Without Donetsk

Negotiations Launched in Donetsk

Negotiations on the Status of the Donetsk and Lugansk People's Republics May Go on for Years

Another Ceasefire

Declaration by the President of the Russian Federation, the President of Ukraine, the President of the French Republic and the Chancellor of the Federal Republic of Germany in Support of the Package of Measures Adopted Feb. 12, 2015, for the Implementation of the Minsk Agreements

The Same Old Story

No One to Monitor Situation in Donetsk Basin

Ukraine Could Fall Under Outside Management

Please Come to the Table

Kremlin's Peacemaking Consent

Why Putin Endorsed Idea of UN Peacekeepers in Donetsk Basin

All Quiet on the Normandy Front

What Was Signed in Minsk

Ukraine Faces Georgian Scenario: Normandy Four Summit Results

Donetsk Basin Gets Council

Stumbling-Block Summit

Russia Makes Last Stand for Mediator Status

PART FOUR — DOMESTIC DEVELOPMENTS IN UKRAINE

President Yanukovich: 'The Supreme Rada Is Illegitimate'

Unofficially Recognized

What Poroshenko Is Offering Donetsk Basin

'Great Leap,' Ukrainian-Style

Ukraine Turning Into a Potential Russian Military Adversary

Donetsk Basin Not Mentioned in New Ukrainian Constitution

'Kiev's Blockade of the Donetsk Basin a Real Shot in the Foot'

Minsk Bites the Dust

Autocephaly to Become Canonical

'Moscow Is Processing the Results of the Ukrainian Election'

Zelensky's Referendum: Ukraine the Main Pig in a Poke

Three Problems Facing Vladimir Zelensky

Zelensky Team Planning to Redraw Map of Ukraine

Ukraine on the Cusp of Local Elections

Operation Child's Play

The 'Stars and Stripes' Course of the Ukrainian President

PART FIVE — THREATS FROM NATO, REAL AND PERCEIVED

Missile Defense System in the Ukrainian Steppe

Ukraine Outside NATO

Missile Crisis: Are We in for a New Arms Race?

A Secure World

NATO Keeps Moving Closer: Only the Military Gains from Budget War

'NATO Is Conducting Maneuvers in Ukraine Every Six to Eight Weeks'

War Without Victory

Putting Ukraine Over a Barrel

Eastern Formula

Russia Has Been Warned: Don't Touch Ukraine!

Forward to the Past

The West is Unlikely to Accept Russia's NATO Demands — And the Kremlin Knows It

No, No and No

Pressing Demands

U.S., NATO Offer Security Dialogue in Leaked Response to Russia

'On the Eve of War?' — Appeal of the All-Russian Officers Assembly to the President and Citizens of the Russian Federation

Pressing Answer

PART SIX — THE KREMLIN'S IDEOLOGICAL PREPARATION FOR WAR

Why There Will Be War in Ukraine

Putin's Fulton Speech

President Putin's Crimean Confession

Shoring Up an Agreement

Wild Card

Why Is Everything Not as It Should Be?

Sergei Lavrov: We Won't Leave Donetsk Basin Residents in the Lurch

Putin Preaches to His Faithful

Was There Even a West? What Sergei Lavrov Can Be Happy About

'The Anti-Russia Project Has No Place in a Sovereign Ukraine'

'We Are Still a Triune People'

Putin's Article Is an Ultimatum, but Not to Ukraine

Russia Shouldn't Negotiate With 'Vassal' Ukraine, Ex-President Medvedev Says

The Waiting Game: Putin's Global Strategy Briefly Summarized by Medvedev

Offensive Crime and Punishment

Right to Sovereignty

APPENDIX

Statement by the Russian Ministry of Foreign Affairs Regarding the Events in Ukraine

Address by the President of the Russian Federation (Mar. 18, 2014)

Protocol on the Outcome of Consultations of the Trilateral Contact Group on Joint Steps Aimed at the Implementation of the Peace Plan of the Ukrainian President P. Poroshenko and the Initiatives of Russian President V. Putin

Package of Measures for the Implementation of the Minsk Agreements

Speech by Sergei Lavrov, Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, at the Munich Security Conference

Being Open, Despite the Past

On the Historical Unity of Russians and Ukrainians

Why Contacts With Current Ukrainian Leadership Are Pointless

Treaty Between the United States of America and the Russian Federation on Security Guarantees

Agreement on Measures to Ensure the Security of the Russian Federation and Member States of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization

Address by the President of the Russian Federation (Feb. 24, 2022)

INDEX

Visit <https://www.eastviewpress.com/resources/books/from-words-to-war/> for more information or to place an order.